

RUSSELL WILL STAY IN SENATORIAL RACE; EFFORTS TO OBTAIN HIS WITHDRAWAL FAIL

HARRELSON VICTOR IN OUSTER ACTION AFTER HARD FIGHT

Board of Education Retains President by Vote of 7 to 5; Ballot Comes After Long and Bitter Argument at Meeting.

ASSAULT IS LED BY DR. WHITEHEAD

Arrest on Charge of Driving Auto While Intoxicated Is Included in Complaint of Opponents.

In one of the bitterest debates in which the Atlanta board of education has engaged in many years, J. Ira Harrelson, president, Tuesday afternoon decisively defeated an attempt to oust him from his post, when the board voted seven to five to table a resolution by Dr. Paul Whitehead demanding his resignation.

Harrelson scored board members and secret meetings of its committees and finally turned dramatically on Whitehead to say "It is just such hoodlums like you who have fostered this fight against me and schemed to oust me. I have no intention of resigning."

Soon after the board session was called to order Whitehead took the floor to ask suspension of the order of business to "permit me to bring to the board a matter of importance."

When asked what he wanted to present, he declined to say, but every member of the board knew what was coming, and voted suspension, eight to four.

Whitehead then related to Harrelson the fact that a committee of three representing the board called on him about March 16 to ask him to resign as president, but later decided he would not quit.

"I want to renew the demand at this time," Whitehead said. Harrelson jumped to his feet saying, "I have no intention of resigning at this time. I had rather be voted out than quit. I want a roll call vote. I think the only legal way to oust me is by impeachment."

"Soon after I appointed certain committees of the board the first of the year, there were secret meetings. Committees of this board refused to function. There were many secret caucuses to which I was not invited."

Whitehead interrupted to say the discussion was not relevant and a long parliamentary battle which Assistant City Attorney Jack C. Savage was called to settle, ensued and ended when Savage said Harrelson could make any statement he desired under a point of personal privilege.

Harrelson then demanded the charges and Julia O'Keefe Nelson, sixth ward commissioner, outlined them as follows:

1. Complaint that the board president was arrested at Leesburg, Ga., in March on a charge of driving an automobile while drunk and having a wreck on which he was placed under $250 bond.
2. Anti-administration radio addresses during the key recall campaign when Harrelson attacked the administration and the mayor.
3. Listing as a "reel" in Washington for alleged incendiary addresses in Georgia and Alabama as an organizer of the Jeffersonian Crusaders, a secret organization which Harrelson is pushing.

"Now that we have the charges, I can answer them," Harrelson said. "I went to south Georgia; had an

NEW ORLEANS, May 10.—(AP)—In the opening assembly of the American Medical Association to-night the incoming president, Edward H. Cary, M. D., of Dallas, commended "the enlightened secular press" for its part in educating the public on medical questions, especially in its attitude toward quackery.

Radio, he charged, is "being diverted and prostituted by designing and resourceful charlatans who enrich themselves at the expense of decency, truth and humanity."

AKRON CONTINUES WESTWARD FLIGHT AS STORMS ABATE

Huge Navy Dirigible En Route to Coast Following Delay Over Texas by Elements.

EL PASO, Texas, May 10.—(AP)—Driven over southwest Texas by inclement weather of many varieties, the naval dirigible Akron finally completed its journey over Texas at 7:25 p. m. (mountain standard time). It had been delayed about 14 hours.

The ship, en route from Lakehurst, N. J., to California, for navy maneuvers, had bucked head winds, been buffeted by violent electrical disturbances, surrounded by thunderstorms, halted by poor visibility over towering mountain peaks and finally impeded by a sandstorm near El Paso.

As the air fleet's giant moved west into New Mexico, its path remained hazardous. It flew a zig-zag course through a mountain pass west of El Paso, apparently finding the going difficult against a strong wind.

The dirigible was flying low, no more than 300 feet above the ground. It followed the Southern Pacific tracks toward low mountains, heading for the desert land of southern New Mexico.

It had safely negotiated "The Pass" in the Rocky Mountains, from which El Paso gets its name. As the dirigible approached, "The Pass" presented an exceptional danger tonight because of a strong crosswind. At times the dirigible appeared to be headed eastward and then it was blown back with its nose to the west.

Thousands of spectators lined the mountainside and mesa watched the blinking lights of the navy's aerial dreadnought pass overhead. The wide expanse of rough country remained to be negotiated. No mountain of importance were to be approached, however, until the craft reached the southwestern portion of Arizona. There the continental divide is low enough to permit fairly easy crossing south of Bisbee, if the Akron follows that route.

From that section west, mountains of the desert land of Arizona, but may be skirted at low altitude.

The Sierra Nevada, or coastal range, presented the highest obstacle at Sannyvale, Cal. As it approached El Paso, a new storm threatened the ship with another night of buffeting gales. The Akron approached to within 10 miles of El Paso, ran into a severe dust storm and turned east again.

After waiting with nose in the wind, 12 miles from here, the dirigible moved westward again, cruising over El Paso shortly after twilight and faded into darkness.

Probe To Be Reopened Into Death of Collings

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., May 10.—(UP)—Investigation into the strange death of Benjamin Collings, who was roped up, beaten and thrown from his cruiser, the Penguin, to drown in Long Island sound, will be reopened, according to District Attorney Blue of Suffolk county.

New evidence, dragged from the bottom of the sea by the fishermen, said to have renewed efforts of the investigators to find the alleged pirates who committed the crime in the presence of Collings' wife and young daughter.

ROOSEVELT LEADS MURRAY, 10 TO 1, IN WEST VIRGINIA

Wets in Both Parties Hold Large Margins Over Drys for Nomination in Ohio Primary.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Early returns from yesterday's presidential primaries showed Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, who Monday won 12 delegates in Arizona and Wyoming, leading Governor William H. Murray, of Oklahoma, 10 to 1, in the West Virginia preference contest.

Governor George White, of Ohio, was assured of at least 43 of Ohio's 52-convention votes. The initial tabulations indicated he probably will get more. He was being opposed by a slate of Al Smith delegates.

Roosevelt's big lead over Murray in West Virginia practically sewed up the state's 16 delegates for the New Yorker, who also was mentioned as a second choice to Speaker Garner in a number of county conventions in Texas. Most of the latter, however, instructed delegates to the May 24 state convention to vote solely for Garner.

In the republican primaries, President Hoover appeared certain to gain most of Ohio's 55 convention votes and West Virginia's 19. Wet republican candidates were leading in all instances in the general G. O. P. state primary.

In state conventions, President Hoover picked up 24 instructed delegates from Tennessee and nine uncommitted, but claimed from Wyoming, running his instructed, pledged and claimed vote for renomination to 845, including 477 instructed and pledged and 368 claimed. Only 678 are needed for the republican nomination.

Early returns gave David S. Ingalls, of Cleveland, assistant secretary of the navy and an advocate of repeal of prohibition, a lead over his nearest opponent—Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, a dry—for the Ohio republican gubernatorial nomination.

Another prohibition liberal, Attorney General C. E. Pettibone, had lead of 2-to-1 over Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange and a dry, for the Ohio republican senatorial nomination.

ROOSEVELT LEADING MURRAY TEN TO ONE CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 10.—(AP)—Trickling returns from the West Virginia primary tonight gave Governor Roosevelt, of New York, a commanding lead over Governor Murray, of Oklahoma, in the democratic presidential contest.

Seventy-seven of the state's 2,342 precincts for president gave: Murray, 50; Roosevelt, 6,076.

The preference primary is not binding on delegates to the convention and most of the candidates are pledged to Roosevelt.

County boards labored against the obstacles of a heavy vote and long ballots. Polling places far in the mountain regions were slow in making returns.

Twenty-five precincts in the democratic race for governor showed H. G. Kump ahead in 17 states. Insolvency is alleged. Herold had 68, Hodges 290, Kump 50.

Receivers Asked For Holding Company

WILMINGTON, Del., May 10.—(UP)—Luke L. Stager, of Kearny, N. J., filed suit in chancery court today asking appointment of receivers for the Federal Public Service Corporation, which controls 35 subsidiaries giving utility service to 311 communities in 17 states. Insolvency is alleged. The company is controlled by the Union Power Corporation, which in turn is controlled by H. M. Ely and Company and the American Equities Corporation.

Stager, who owns one $1,000 6 per cent bond of the corporation, alleged that the concern is insolvent.

Helene Costello Wins Divorce Despite Taste in Literature

HELENE COSTELLO AND LOWELL SHERMAN.

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—(UP)—The Lowell Sherman-Helene Costello divorce suit, which had electrified Hollywood by its sensational testimony, came to a sudden end late today as Miss Costello was awarded a decree on the grounds of cruelty.

Sherman, a leading actor-director of the screen, was not in court when, by an unexpected turn of events, his wife classed him as a "fault finder" and tearfully listened to a decision in her favor by Superior Judge Thomas Ambrose.

Previously Sherman had testified that Miss Costello was a heavy drinker of intoxicants and an avid reader of "spicy" books, a dozen of which he exhibited as evidence. These practices, according to Sherman, constituted cruelty.

PROTEST IS HEARD GRAND THEATER BY DECATUR BOARD WILL BE REBUILT

School Changes To Be Carried Out, Is Indicated at Mass Meeting.

BY WILLIAM O. KEY JR. Decatur citizens went to bed Tuesday night probably wondering whether the board of education would heed their fervent mass plea and reconsider the board's recent decision to abolish the junior high school system. Certainly those citizens who attended the public meeting of the board at Senior High school must have dreamed of the controversy, for so intense was their interest that even after the board had adjourned indicating it would not change its mind, groups and little crowds of junior high advocates buzzed enthusiastically outside the building.

Decatur perhaps seldom has had a controversy so close to the hearts of the people, and spokesmen for those opposing abolition of the junior high schools delivered themselves of an eloquent Tuesday night that is rarely encountered in similar forums. Never once resorting to the classics—such as is commonly the case in public oratory—speakers for and against the junior high school system were definitely encouraged by the board.

Two principal matters were discussed—whether the junior high school should be abolished, and the advisability of segregating the sexes in the modernistic manner. Interior of the auditorium will also be modernistic in design.

While no definite dates have been set, Mr. Keene expects operations to begin probably in June, until which time Low's Grand theater will continue to show films. In the meantime

SPECIAL GROUP TO SEEK ECONOMY IN FEDERAL COSTS

Senate Leaders Gather Forces To Bring Approval of Billion-Dollar Tax Measure.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON. WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—The non-partisan campaign to balance the government's budget moved rapidly forward today on Capitol Hill.

The senate appropriations committee set up a special subcommittee to begin immediate work on a gigantic economy measure and sidetracked all of the supply bills until the conclusion of this task.

A. early meeting of this committee, consisting of three republicans and three democrats, with President Hoover is planned. Complete co-operation from the White House has been promised.

The committee will begin work tomorrow morning. It will violate precedent by having banking members of the special house economy committee meet with it.

Late in the day Mr. Hoover spent more than three hours in conference with four of his closest advisers—Secretary Mills, Secretary Hurley, Acting Secretary Castle, of the state department, and J. C. Koop, director of the budget. They later said "matters of economy" were discussed together with the pending democratic tariff bill.

Asked if some new economy proposal could be expected from the president as a result of the conference, Mills replied: "If I answered that I would be telling something."

Curtis Reassures Friends of Safety

NORFOLK, Va., May 10.—(UP)—The anxiety of their friends was alleviated today when indirect word was received of the safety of John Hughes Curtis and Lieutenant George L. Richard, who left Friday night to negotiate with representatives of men claiming possession of Charles A. L. Gutzwiller.

The word was understood to have come through a shore agent of the self-asserted kidnappers, who say they have the baby on a boat at sea.

Curtis and Richard went to "reassure" the group, Curtis' friends said, after the "kidnappers" became frightened at apparent navy activity in the area at sea where they had promised to deliver the baby to Curtis in the yacht Marcon.

Crisp Is Pledged Support Of Three Former Governors

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, May 10.—With the announcement of the appointment of a campaign manager the contest between him and Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. for the nomination to the U. S. senate is under way.

Representative Crisp, acting chairman of the house ways and means committee, the most powerful legislative body of either branch of congress, stated several days ago that his campaign will be managed at the start by Colonel W. W. Dykes, prominent attorney of Americus, Mr. Crisp's home town. In making the announcement the Georgia congressman said that Colonel Dykes had asked to be designated for the post only temporarily, but Mr. Crisp expressed the hope that he can be persuaded to serve throughout the campaign. For the present Colonel Dykes will main-

Paris Remains Calm As Tex Guinan Arrives

PARIS, May 10.—(UP)—Texas Guinan, barred from France last year with her troupe of girls, arrived today for a visit, almost unnoticed.

She was frankly disappointed at the flat reception.

"I promise the French government to buy some new clothes and be gone in 10 days," she said.

"I didn't come either to get divorced or married. I believe marriage is only carrying love to far, anyway."

LEBRUN IS NAMED FRENCH PRESIDENT AS TARDIEU QUILTS

PARIS, May 10.—(UP)—France hailed Albert Lebrun as fourteenth president of the republic tonight and bid official farewell to the cabinet of Premier Andre Tardieu.

Lebrun, a farm boy who rose to political power as president of the senate, was elected by the national assembly at Versailles to succeed the assassinated President Paul Doumer for a term of seven years.

Immediately after the installation of the 60-year-old Lebrun at the Elysee palace, the Tardieu cabinet feasted in Sunday's legislative elections—presented its resignation, which was accepted at the moment a 101-anniversary salute was being sounded in honor of the new president.

Tardieu and his ministers agreed, however, to continue to handle governmental affairs until a new cabinet is formed, probably about June 5 after the new parliament meets.

On Thursday President Lebrun will lead the nation in tribute to Doumer, who will be buried with the highest honors of France. Then the political parties must prepare to reach momentous decisions as to the next cabinet, which probably will be headed by Edouard Herriot, the radical-socialist leader.

The final vote in the presidential election was:

Lebrun, 653.
Paul Faure (socialist), 114.
Paul Painleve (republican-socialist), 12.
Maurice Cachin (communist), 8.
Blanks, 59.
Total, 826.

Versailles, once the chateau of French kings, was heavily guarded by 3,250 infantrymen, 600 cavalrymen and thousands of police who were scattered through the historic courtyard, the nearby woods and adjoining roads.

But the election was without incident except for two outbreaks of rioting by the unemployed. Deputy Francois Bourgaud twice slapped the face of Deputy Maurice Violette, both republicans, who were engaged in a personal fight. Senator Victor Boret and Deputy Louis Dien met in a fist fight in the corridor.

MOVE TO 'DRAFT' GOVERNOR HEADED BY H. T. MINTOSH

Editor Sends Telegrams to Candidates, Asking Them To Retire If Russell Reconsiders; Talmadge Refuses To Quit.

ACTION ATTACKED BY H. B. EDWARDS

Charge That Move Is Attempt to Injure Governor Is Denied by Albany Supporter.

2 MORE CANDIDATES ENTER STATE RACES

Two new candidates Tuesday were added to the list of those seeking state offices in the primary.

The first was Judge J. Render Terrell of Greenville, formally announced his candidacy for governor, and the second was Mrs. Calvin Parker, of Waycross, who announced she was a candidate for membership on the public service commission.

Judge Terrell was a member of the 1930-31 general assembly. Mrs. Parker is the widow of the late Commissioner Parker, who died about a year ago.

BY R. E. POWELL. In a terse statement charging that "a determined effort" was being made "in certain quarters to create doubt in the minds of the people of Georgia as to my intentions in the coming campaign," Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Tuesday announced positively that he would remain in the race for the United States senate.

The unqualified declaration of the governor climaxed a series of eleventh-hour appeals to him to renounce his ambition for the senate and become a candidate to remain at the head of the state administration.

In the foreground of the group which sought to persuade the governor to withdraw from the race for the senate was Henry T. McIntosh, editor of the Atlanta Herald. Mr. McIntosh is also a member of the board of control under appointment by Governor Russell. This action was taken, Mr. McIntosh asserted, after he had communicated "with some of (Russell's) closest personal and political friends."

Last Saturday McIntosh sent all candidates who have paid their entrance fees, Eugene Talmadge, H. B. Edwards, Abit Nix and John I. Kelley, a telegram asking that he would retire from the race in order to "release Governor Russell from the promise implied in his statement that he would not be a candidate for renomination."

Eugene Talmadge promptly replied, declaring that Governor Russell's announcement that he was a candidate for the senate was not not to him but to "the people of Georgia." Edwards, first of the candidates to announce after he had conferred with Governor Russell, said that he did not reply because he thought it was

War Department Economies Rouse Administrative Ire

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—War over economy proposals for the army broke out today in the house with administration forces stubbornly resisting the efforts to lop $24,569,001 off the appropriations requested by President Hoover.

Secretary Hurley and General Douglas MacArthur, army chief of staff, threw their full strength against curtailment of the bill to $386,793,861 as recommended by the appropriations committee. They told the military committee, in executive session, that the national defense would be impaired by the proposal.

Representative Collins, of Mississippi, democratic chairman of the appropriations subcommittee, supported the cuts and charged the army was following obsolete practices. Meanwhile, a concerted movement arose among republicans to reject the proposed reductions.

Representative Barbour, of California, ranking republican on Collins' committee, announced he would seek to eliminate a provision to retire 2,000 of the army's 12,000 officers. He said: "This bill absolutely undermines everything we have done to carry out a national defense policy. The president said 'we should not further reduce our national defense,' and the president has not changed his mind."

Collins asserted the army was not efficient because it had not sufficiently mechanized itself to meet modern conditions.

Irked by the appropriations committee's proposals to reduce the number of officers, and suspend the Citizens' Military Training Corps, and the organized reserves, the military committee approved a motion of Representative James, of Michigan, ranking republican, to call Secretary Hurley and General MacArthur to discuss the bill.

After a three-hour session behind closed doors with the officials, the committee authorized Chairman McSwain to make a statement, in which he said: "Both the secretary of war and the chief of staff were emphatic in expressing opposition to a reduction of either the officer strength of the army

YOUTHFUL SLAYER BARS LIFE CHANCE, PLEADS FOR CHAIR

NEW YORK, May 10.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Turner was permitted to see her son, William, in the ante-room of the criminal courts today and to beg him to plead guilty to second degree murder and thus escape the electric chair.

Through the closed door of the courtroom, the attendants could hear the agonized moans of the mother as she pleaded with her suddenly irresponsible son. To all of her anguished cries he kept repeating a stubborn, "No, no, no, I killed the guy. I'm gonna burn."

They brought the boy back into the courtroom, and a jury, moved to compassion for the mother, but unable to avert from duty, retired for a few moments and returned with the verdict that will send William to the electric chair.

Turner has been on trial for two weeks on a charge of first degree murder, for the death of John McGowan, a spikease proprietor. Judge Cornelius P. Collins, moved by his youth and the appearance he gives of an unstable mentality, offered to let him plead guilty to second degree. Turner refused, with a sneer, and began playing solitaire while the wheels of justice ground out the evidence against him.

Twice Turner swung towards the judge's bench protesting that he wouldn't plead as the judge suggested. "I don't do it," he said. "I want the chair."

Late today he was led away to the Tombs. His mother, waving wistfully at him as he passed, was met with a blank stare. William refused to wave back.

Red-faced court attendants blew their noses and walked to the window to hide their tears.

C. D. DURHAM DIES IN MIAMI HOSPITAL

Former Automobile Executive Succumbs to Operation.

MIAMI, Fla., May 10.—(AP)—C. D. Durham, 58, retired automobile executive and former resident of Flint, Mich., died suddenly in Jackson Memorial hospital today after an operation.

Durham was production manager for the Buick Motor Company until 1929, when he retired and came here to live.

He was admitted to the hospital May 8. Mrs. Durham and her daughter, Mrs. Louise Witt, who left here two weeks ago to open their summer home at Flint, are expected here by train tonight.

DR. HASTINGS H. HART.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 10.—(AP)—Dr. Hastings H. Hart, a native of Brookfield, Ohio, and brother of Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard University, died here yesterday at the age of 80 years.

Dr. Hart, consultant in the Russell Sage Foundation's department of delinquency and penology, was a nationally-known leader in prison reform.

Ordnained a minister of the Congregational church at 29, Dr. Hart later joined the Russell Sage Foundation in 1900.

In 1917 and 1918, as part of his war work, Dr. Hart made studies of the social institutions and agencies of West Virginia, South Carolina, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi. The Child Welfare League of America grew out of his establishment of a bureau for the exchange of child-helping information.

DR. T. L. BENNETT.

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—Dr. Thomas L. Bennett, widely known lunatic-killer, who maintained homes in Palm Beach and Newport, died yesterday of heart disease. He was 63 and returned from his summer residence last week. He had practiced here since 1897.

L. R. HOWELL.

SHREVEPORT, La., May 10.—(AP)—L. R. Howell, a retired merchant of Oklahoma City, suffered a heart attack today while driving his automobile in Shreveport and died almost immediately. He and his family were en route to Florida, where Mr. Howell hoped to regain his health.

"We will go just as far as we possibly can in making economies," was the only forecast tonight by Jones.

The administration is urging a total of more than $200,000,000 in savings to make the pending compromise tax bill balance the budget. The house economy measure was pared down to about $40,000,000 in the vicious attack made upon it on the floor.

McKellar, author of the proposals for 10 per cent cuts in the appropriations bills, predicted "we will make savings of between $800,000,000 and $500,000,000 in this congress."

Representatives McDuffie, democrat, Alabama, and Ramseyer, republican, Iowa, chairman and ranking republican of the house economy committee, respectively, will sit down tomorrow morning with the senate group.

Half a dozen of the regular annual supply bills are in the hands of the appropriations committee. It is apparently the thought of the committee that much time will be saved in working on these if it finds out first just how far congress is going to go in the general economy measure.

SHOUSE ASSAILS HOOVER FOR POLITICAL "TINGE"

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(UP)—President Hoover's recent criticism of congress for failure to enact tax and economy measures "has an unfortunate political tinge," Jonett Shouse, chairman of the national democratic executive committee, declared tonight in a statement.

"It casts a dark shadow on the project of non-partisan co-operation to balance the budget," Shouse said.

President Hoover, he declared, "stultifies himself by appealing for non-partisan action on the great fiscal measures while at the same time he is holding congressional conferences and carefully excluding democrats."

"The present emergency lies mainly at the president's own doorstep. He has had two and a half years since the inevitable decrease in government revenues was foreshadowed and during all of that time he not only refrained himself from any move to reduce the expenditures of various departments but has permitted the heads of those departments and his own secretary to lobby at the capitol against the reductions the house economy committee wished to effect."

Nurses and Internes Awarded Diplomas At Georgia Baptist Graduation Exercises

Graduating class of the Georgia Baptist Hospital, comprising 12 nurses and four internes, which received diplomas at exercises held Tuesday night at the Second Baptist church. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

Diplomas were presented to 12 nurses and four internes at the graduation exercises of the Georgia Baptist hospital school of nursing at the Second Baptist church Tuesday night. Dr. W. H. Major, chairman of the hospital commission, presided over the exercises, which included addresses by Dr. L. G. Baggett, chairman of the medical staff, who delivered the staff message to the nurses; Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, who gave the class address; Dr. M. C. Pruitt, chairman of the internes staff, who delivered the staff message to the internes; and Dr. E. S. Byrd, chairman of the nursing school committee, and Dr. Stephen T. Brown, of the curriculum committee, who tendered greetings to the graduates.

The program also included a solo by Miss Minna Hecker, a selection by the choir of the Druid Hills Baptist church, the singing of the class song by the graduating nurses, and the presentation of a loving cup by Mrs. J. W. Awtry, president of the woman's auxiliary, to the honor graduate, Miss Correne Murray. C. W. Diekmann played the processional and the recessional. The Rev. W. H. Faust delivered the invocation and the benediction was given by the Rev. John F. Eden. Pins were presented to the nurses by Miss Nancy Jenkins, director of the nursing school. Superintendent W. D. Barker presented the diplomas to the nurses and the internes. The nurses graduating were Miss stituted cruelty and wrought havoc with his home life.

Emily Brown, Miss Mary Norton, Miss Betty Fulghum, Miss Louise Shepherd, Miss Ruby Loyd, Miss Correne Murray, Miss Ann Gillespie, Miss Letus Phillips, Miss Florence Fuller, Miss Mary Hall, Miss Juanita Sierck and Miss Otto Purcell. The internes receiving diplomas were Dr. Lowell S. King, Dr. Elliott Lawson Baker, Dr. James Willis Howard and Dr. Jackson Murrell Bowling.

The pathway to a divorce was made easy for Miss Costello by a conference of opposing attorneys, who agreed in secret during a requested adjournment of court sessions scheduled for the morning.

The actress was allowed by a bench ruling to file a counter suit against Sherman. Prior to this action she merely was opposing his plea for a divorce.

Humors around the courthouse were to the effect that both parties desired to avoid furnishing the Hollywood public any more testimony about their alleged literary tastes, habits and dispositions.

At any rate, Miss Costello testified for only 2 minutes.

Her husband was cruel and constantly nagged her, she said. He assumed such a superior manner toward her that she developed an "inferiority complex," she concluded.

Miss Costello dried her tears in a dainty handkerchief as she stepped from the witness stand and talked to reporters. Many friends of the actress crowded around to congratulate her. She said a property settlement had been arranged under which she would receive "many, many thousands of dollars."

A sequel to the case came when Maury Cohen, faithful secretary to Sherman, gingerly packed 10 volumes of "spicy" books into a suit case and carried the library from the courtroom. Sherman had listed the books as samples of the reading matter enjoyed by his wife.

Two books were missing, the result of a mysterious theft during last night. The works were the "Memoirs of Fanny Hill" and another whose title was not given.

Miss Costello's tearful appearance as a witness was a contrast to Sherman's word picture of her. He declared that in addition to drinking and reading "spicy" books, Miss Costello once struck his mother, and once struck him in the face with a dog whip. He said his wife became enraged on a night when he retired early and poured a cocktail on him while he was in bed.

The Costello-Sherman marriage was a big event in Hollywood a little more than a year ago.

Sherman is rated as one of the most successful actors and directors in films. Miss Costello, in addition to being an actress of note, is a daughter of Maurice Costello and the sister of Dolores Costello, wife of John Barrymore.

At Tammany headquarters, the suggested lineup brought the pertinent comment that such subjects are discussed there only in secret conferences.

Friends of Governor Roosevelt said they doubted whether Wagner would prefer the gubernatorial post to a senate seat and made clear that at present they favor Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman as the most likely gubernatorial candidate. He is one of Roosevelt's most ardent supporters.

Walker, whose administration is under fire by the Hofstadter legislative committee, has not indicated whether he will seek another term as mayor in 1933.

The possibility of the inquiry board calling on the governor to take some action against Walker as a result of the investigation has frequently been projected into the complicated New York political picture.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 11, 1932.

THE PEOPLE MUST SPEAK

Following the example set by other great national business institutions, with interests in many states, the International Agricultural Corporation has sent a letter to its stockholders stressing the need of governmental economy and decreased expenses.

Urging the "privilege and definite responsibility" of all citizens to give congress the benefit of their views, the letter declares "the continued appropriations by congress for objects that are not in any way imperative, and which require huge sums of money to be raised by additional taxes," adding the forceful comment that:

"These are times when all incomes have been seriously impaired and the only citizen who has lost nothing is the one who had nothing. There has never been a time in the past 25 years more inopportune than the present to increase the burden of taxation. This orgy of spending the public's money must stop. In private life, when incomes decrease, expenses are curtailed. In public life, however, expense is not adjusted to income and any increase in taxation must come at a time of shrunken incomes."

The burden of governmental expenses, federal, state and local, is today beyond all reason. It has grown 35 per cent in less than 20 years, while the population and the number of people have increased only 28 per cent. This presents an appalling record of public extravagance; these commitments impair our national credit and our economic recovery.

Between 1927 and 1932 the federal government alone increased its cost of operation 65 per cent, which was in excess of one billion and one-quarter dollars in a period of five years.

The action of the great business interests of the country in calling on their thousands of stockholders to protest the governmental policies which have put so heavy a load on the nation's industry and commerce is a hopeful sign. If ever there was a time when the members of congress should have first-hand information as to the will of the people, that time is now.

Those who are directly interested in the various bureaus, commissions and governmental bodies are responsible for the mounting costs at Washington are vehemently protesting their abolition. If the masses of the people who pay for these waste without useful extravagance should not speak congress will hear only one side and it will be useless to expect those drastic cuts which must be made.

This is emphasized by the Chicago Tribune in an editorial in which attention is called to the fact that bureaus, boards, departments and commissions which created the deficit in the national treasury not only "execute policies alien to the purpose of the American Union," but are "untouchable" where moves for economy are demanded.

The Tribune finds the consequences of this growth of an inner-governmental structure in the "mediocrity of states, the strangulation of private enterprise, the loss of individual responsibility and competence and the superimposing upon the pure form of the American Union of such a bureaucracy as has killed every nation which has fallen victim to it."

Bureaucratic government, aided and abetted by congress, has with in the past few years grown to be a Goliath for whose upkeep the taxpayers of the nation are being bled dry—and for no good purpose.

The farm board alone has thrown away a half-billion dollars in abortive efforts to combat the laws of supply and demand, and is now asking for a hundred million dollars more to finance the sale of its vast holdings in wheat and cotton, the prices of which its endeavors have actually forced down instead of raised.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Ideal Husbands.
On the ship crossing back to Europe last month we had a movie-show every afternoon. The most interesting film, more than I had seen in the last five years. Every one of the five had a different popular film hero in the chief role. I looked carefully at those boys, for they represent the general idea of the popular type of masculinity. If we believe the movie propaganda, they were what passes for animated causes, they could do anything, but they were terribly interesting.

But what does the married woman consider to be the ideal man? Well, the first place, he has got to be straight, honest and not dazed by every pair of darling ankles he sees, no matter how winningly slim, how urbane or how intriguingly elegant they may be. Right, then he mustn't drink. Quite right. He must, furthermore, let his wife have the last word in any dispute, argument, fight or discussion and pretend that he is in perfect agreement with her. Then he must be a help around the house, the sewing machine, repair the leaking gas-heater and know how to paste up a corner of the wall paper that becomes detached.

These economies would be largely nullified by the proposed tax and the industry would be faced either with collapse or the reduction of quality which would permit of successful competition by foreign-made films.

If the business of the film industry was apace with what it is a few years ago, there would be less ground for complaint over the proposed tax, but its condition is such now that the tax might be the last straw to break the camel's back.

It is to be hoped that in the final solution of the nation's tax problem the proposed extra burden on an industry which brings relaxation and relief to the masses of the people will not be found necessary.

COTTON EXPORTS INCREASE

An increase of at least 2,000,000 bales in our cotton exports is predicted by the American Cotton Co-operative Association, which feels that intensive economic studies and investigation of the needs of foreign consumers have checked the steady decrease in orders for American cotton on foreign markets.

Shipments from American ports to May 1 show an increase of 1,432,000 bales over the same period last year, the monthly average since Christmas being 350,000 bales larger than during 1931.

While the co-operative association lays particular emphasis on the part played by improved methods of marketing in securing this increase, it will be well for our growers not to overlook the fact that the smallness of the Indian crop last year and the drop in American exports during the same 12 months are undoubtedly important factors.

Foreign mills ordered but little cotton during 1931 and now that they must replenish their stocks the scarcity of other cotton has made necessary an increase in purchases in America.

With Russia planting between five and six million acres in cotton each year as against less than a half-million acres only a few years ago, and with the land devoted to cotton raising in Egypt, India and China being constantly expanded there can be no expectation that American cotton will rule the markets of the world as it once did.

But if our planters will confine themselves to the finer grades which can be produced nowhere else, cut down their cost of production by increasing the yield per acre, and refrain from the overplanting which has spelled ruin for them so many times in the past, there is no reason why American cotton should not remain one of the world's most profitable agricultural products.

While it is not to be expected that the increased exports of the first four months of this year indicate a return of foreign buying of American cotton to former figures, these exports do mean a lessening in the carry-over cotton which should have a stabilizing and revivifying effect on prices.

With some primitive tribes in Korea the marriage ceremony consists merely of the contracting parties shaking hands. We imagine a divorce is obtained by shaking fists.

The per capita tax on citizens of the United States has increased 338 per cent in 27 years. Anyone who believes the value of government has increased proportionately will please stand on his head.

One good thing about homey women: They don't shoot their husbands to get in the tabloids.—Judge. Maybe their husbands shoot themselves.

Kreuger Death Tips To Be Investigated

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

INSULIN FOR PROGRESSIVE CHRONIC ARTHRITIS.
Anthrax is medical Greek for joint inflammation. Acute arthritis is well understood. Ordinary chronic arthritis, commonly dubbed "rheumatism" is likewise well known to be a focal infection, that is, germs of one strain or another (such as Streptococcus hemolyticus) which are cultivated in some septic bed in the tonsils, about a root of a tooth, in the pelvic organs of men or women, lodge in the joints of the joint and cause low grade inflammation there, which eventually seriously cripples the affected joint.

But there are a minority of cases of chronic progressive arthritis, variously known as rheumatoid arthritis, atrophic arthritis, arthritis deformans, marked by joint stiffness and deformity. I mean that I mean no one knows the cause of this type of arthritis.

Last year we told here of a method of treatment which had been used in France with considerable success—a cure, just a helpful treatment. This is a course of hypodermic injections of parathyroid hormone. Only a physician can safely administer such treatment. It brings to the patient a definite metabolic boost, increased activity, increased well-being. Physicians have safely administered such treatment to the results with the results of insulin treatment in diabetes.

Some English physicians now report marked benefit in cases of chronic progressive or rheumatoid arthritis from a series of injections of normal blood and then a course of insulin treatment. The physician can safely administer such treatment to the results with the results of insulin treatment in diabetes.

WETS FAR AHEAD IN HOV PRIMARIES
COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 10.—(AP)—Foes of prohibition were leading by wide margins over their dry opponents in the republican senatorial and gubernatorial nominations tonight as returns from Ohio's primary mounted.

Attorney-General Gilbert Betman, advocate of anti-prohibition planks, was running second to one ahead of L. J. Taber, national master of the Grange and a dry, in the race for the senatorial nomination. David S. Ingalls, who also campaigned against the liquor laws, saw his lead steadily increasing as the returns came in.

In 1,115 precincts of the state's 8,701 precincts polled 31,367 to Taber's 18,110, with three other candidates hopelessly distanced. In 1,162 precincts Ingalls polled 34,220 to 24,270 for Brown. Governor White's vote in 897 precincts was 20,456 to 3,661 for Ross.

Because of the length of the ballots, closed with county candidates, the count was progressing very slowly. A heavy vote was cast. No figures were available until after midnight on the presidential preference counts and the meager returns from districts where there were contests for national convention delegates indicated that the Hoover candidates and those pledged to Governor George White, "favorite son" democratic presidential candidates, would win easily.

Six delegate candidates favoring Al Smith as the democratic presidential candidate were badly beaten in Cleveland, where they polled 3,400 to 2,400. In the Stomachers party of Illinois delegation to the national convention, favoring Melvin A. Tamm, Chicago banker, as its second choice for president.

Illinois' 68 votes are pledged to United States Senator James Hamilton, who is a member of the party. The rank and file of democrats expressed a preference at the recent precinct conventions for Speaker John C. Calhoun for the presidency. Republicans were victorious in an endorsement of President Hoover for a second term.

The democratic county meetings were expected to develop the strength of a movement, felt in the precinct meetings, to have the state convention endorse Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidency.

AL SMITH'S COURSE
NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 10.—(AP)—The "solid support" of their 24 delegates to the national convention was pledged to President Hoover for the Tennessee primary, and a dry platform plank was adopted amid cheers.

A member of the Hoover cabinet, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, lauded the president's plan for economic recovery and said its progress was being made.

The ripple in the harmony of the convention was the spirited fight made by supporters of C. Arthur Brantley, a member of the state executive committee, to unseat the incumbent, J. R. (Bob) Church, who had exercised for many years over the state's affairs.

A subcommittee of the state executive committee recommended that "in the interest of harmony" delegates of both factions be seated and that the question of which was regular be acted upon later, each side to submit nominees for the county primary ballot.

Determined to clip Church's wings, several requests urging her to support Brantley were made.

"I am not sure as to the date I will qualify," she said, "but I will do my best to enter the race."

Hal M. Stanley, state commissioner of labor and chairman of the state executive committee, said that Miss Stella Akin, secretary of the state executive committee, as a candidate for the nomination to succeed himself.

Cohen Pays Visit To Press Galleries

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—Georgia's new senator, John S. Cohen, today renewed his brief visit to the press galleries his memories of days long ago when he was a Washington correspondent.

The senator wandered through the waiting room just outside the gallery, waiting for a few moments with one of the two big newspapers he knew then and meeting some of the new ones.

BOARD WANTS TO KNOW IF APPROPRIATION CUT CAN FOLLOW PASSAGE

Voting to ask City Attorney James L. Mayson for an opinion as to whether the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta can approve the school budget and then cut the appropriation; re-electing 177 probationary teachers, and hearing Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, laud health of school children, the board Tuesday afternoon adopted a 1932-33 school calendar.

Action to protect the school's finances came after reading of a letter from Councilman James L. Wells, chairman of the council finance committee, in which Wells warned of a shortage of school funds because of the marked reduction in collections of anticipated revenue for the year.

Altham Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of the council school committee, warned against hasty action, and the board disregarded his plea and voted to get the opinion.

Praising the health of the Atlanta public school students, Sutton asserted that the students are now reaping the benefit of the health program of the Atlanta Public Schools. He also praised Mrs. M. H. Margeson, chairman of the women's division of Mayor James L. Key's emergency relief commission, for her aid in keeping students in suitable clothing.

"If the death rate in Atlanta schools had been the same as it was in 1928, there would have been 2,400 more deaths last year than there were," Sutton told the board.

Youth Kills Man Whose Wild Shot Caused Mother's Death by Fright

SILVER CITY, Miss., May 10.—(AP)—Less than an hour after Mrs. Sam Henderson, 40, died from what officers described as a heart attack brought on by a threat against her life, her 18-year-old son fatally wounded the man who threatened her.

Sheriff John Purvis said today that Ramsey Abernathy, 36, a farmer, entered the Henderson home last night while under the influence of liquor and fired at Mrs. Henderson, who fell to the floor. First reports were that Mrs. Henderson was wounded, but the sheriff said today that she died of a heart attack caused by

SUBURBS OF CHICAGO POOL LAW FACILITIES

Communities Organize Co-operative Unit To Be Known as County Regional Police.

CHICAGO, May 10.—(AP)—Ninety Chicago suburbs, weary of fighting their crime battles alone, have pooled their law enforcing facilities and hung a new Damoclean sword over Chicago's harassed underworld.

Secretly they have organized a vast co-operative unit to be known as the Cook County Regional Police with the aim, leaders revealed today, of driving gangsters, hoodlums and racketeers out of the residential communities within the metropolitan area.

Quick and daring forages of criminals from city hideouts have brought a blight upon the peaceful life of the suburbs. Crime, transplanted from the gangland haunts of Chicago has been growing, the leaders said, and its growth has been fostered by lack of co-operation among the uncorrelated law enforcement agencies.

But as the new machinery begins functioning, the criminal whose pistol belches lead into a hapless victim or an underworld enemy will find every suburb of the county ready to block his escape as soon as the crime is discovered.

Major crimes will be flashed to a central bureau in the state's attorney's office and relayed in an instant to all police departments. Localized crime operations will be broadcast to regional bureaus in northern, western and southern sections and the criminal records and personnel of one suburb will be available to all.

Secrecy admittedly shrouded the organization to prevent any efforts at control of the new unit by politicians.

Home Brew Explodes, Cuts Officer in Court
WESTMORELAND, Cal., May 10.—(AP)—A bottle of home brew exploded in justice court here last night as W. A. Long, prohibition officer, held it up as evidence.

Long was severely cut in the right leg, chin and hand, his left thumb being nearly severed.

Poetry Works Reform Of Recalcitrant Father

CHICAGO, May 10.—(AP)—Judge Sabath sentenced Anthony Kurawski to read poetry yesterday and found it worked reform.

Anthony was $168 in arrears on an order to pay $7 a week to support his son when he appeared before the court.

The judge ordered him to go into the court chambers and read the verses entitled "Father and Son," which calls on fathers to be chums to their boys. When he finished he said:

"I'll pay as quickly as I can."

PRICES OF FOODS APPROACH LEVELS OF 100 YEARS AGO

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—If you are living in the right places these days you can buy food for about what your great-grandparents used to pay.

The department of agriculture, making a survey of farm prices, discovered that though prices are down everywhere, it takes special location to get the real bargains.

"In some states," it said today, "average prices are so low as to read like a price list for the year 1832 instead of one for today."

Eggs in Texas can be bought 7 cents a dozen but they cost 22.8 in Massachusetts and 10.2 as the country's average.

Butter at the farm is 17 cents in Tennessee but 28 in Maine. Chickens at 9 cents a pound around the Rhode Island and Connecticut farm wives are getting 20.5. The country average is 12 cents.

Lambs range from an average of 4.2 cents a pound in Texas and Montana to 7 in Maryland.

The average price of mules is only $34 on Montana farms, but in New York they sell around $125 a head. A Montana horse brings $31, while his New York cousin is worth $114.

WISCONSIN MAYOR CANCELS RENTALS TO AID BUSINESS

SUPERIOR, Wis., May 10.—(AP)—George E. Dietrich, silver-haired mayor of Superior, owns several buildings, and his days were troubled with the complaints of tenants who could not pay their rent.

But the mayor was smiling today. He cleared up all the accounts by cancelling every rent debt owed him up to May 1.

"It is good business judgment," he said, "and a command from the Old Testament." He picked up the Scriptures, and from Deuteronomy XV, verses 1 and 2, he read:

"At the end of every seven years thou shalt make a release, and this is the manner of the release: Every creditor that lendeth ought to his neighbor shall release it, and he shall not exact it of his neighbor or of his brother, because it is called the Lord's release."

Not only are old debts forgotten, but hereafter the mayor's tenants will enjoy rent reductions of 20 to 25 per cent.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION SHOWS $5,008,156 GAIN

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(AP)—Money in circulation in the United States on April 30 increased $5,008,156, as compared with March 31, but the total of money in the country decreased $68,041,376.

The treasury's monthly circulation statement Monday showed that at the end of April money in circulation amounted to $5,464,093,541, with a per capita circulation of $43.76, as compared with $43.74 a month before.

The total money in the country on April 30 was $9,198,517,108. Of that amount $4,364,624,657 was in gold coin and bullion. Of the total the treasury held $3,952,870,603.

LANDSLIDES THREATEN PEOPLE NEAR LYONS

LYONS, France, May 10.—(AP)—Landslides, similar to those which demolished two apartment houses here Sunday and buried two-score people in the wreckage, threatened the 1,600 inhabitants of St. Genix-Sur-Guiers, 30 miles east of here, today.

Several slides in which more than 1,000,000 tons of earth and rocks tumbled down, sent the people scrambling down the mountain side. Three houses and 1,000 trees were flattened and more threatened.

Reports from Chambéry said the farmers were taking their families down the slopes into the Guiers river valley, leaving all their household goods and cattle behind.

POLICIES ON TAX BILL CLARIFIED BY GEORGE

Georgia Senator Explains Position in Voting Measure Favorably.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Although Senator Walter F. George voted Monday with other democratic members of the senate finance committee to approve the new revenue bill to expedite final action on that important measure, he has made it clear in a statement to The Constitution that he is opposed to some of its provisions and will vote against them on the senate floor.

Senator George believes it vital to balance the federal budget, but that this should be done by a reduction of expenditures and not alone by an increase in taxes.

His statement reads: "It is imperatively necessary to maintain the credit of the government. Hence I voted to report the tax bill to the senate. Federal expenditures and income must be made to meet and this can be accomplished only by rigid and drastic economy in government affecting all departments and all offices of the government. I have stood for and will stand for every just measure of economy looking to the reduction of the cost of government. My bill, which gives to the president plenary power to abolish useless offices, boards and bureaus, is incorporated in the house omnibus bill and I confidently predict its passage before adjournment.

"I did not vote for an increase in postage, first and second-class; for excise tax on admissions below 45 cents; for a stamp on checks and some other nuisance taxes. I will not support these on the floor of the senate, but I believe the loss in revenue from these sources can be taken up by reduced cost in government. I opposed all protective tariff items in the bill and will oppose these on the floor. The protective tariff rates were supported by some democrats, but they were incorporated in the bill by the aid and assistance of the republican members of the committee. These tariff items were responsible for such delay and confusion as arose in the finance committee.

"I also voted and was successful in causing to be eliminated many of the nuisance taxes such as tax on jewelry, soft drinks and others."

ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW IS OPENED IN MACON

F. E. Lee, of Atlanta, Wins
Rose Cup; Other Awards
Announced.

MACON, Ga., May 10.—(P)—Macon Flower Show, an annual event in which flower lovers of Bibb county participate, opened Tuesday with afternoon and evening crowds filling the Macon auditorium to capacity.

One of the most keenly contested prizes of the show, the rose cup, was awarded F. E. Lee, of Atlanta. This cup is awarded for the best single rose in the show. Mr. Lee's entry was a dark red Irish Hope.

Other cup awards announced late Tuesday included the iris cup to Mrs. H. L. Calhoun, of Walden; cup for best collection of annuals to Mrs. R. P. Hatcher, Log Cabin Heights. Mrs. Hatcher also won the perennials cup. Before the show opened more flowers than could be placed had arrived. A new arrangement by J. D. Crump, president of the Bibb county flower club, made the flowers appear as they would growing in natural beds.

Tables placed in the left entrance of the auditorium represented new phases in decorations. One was decorated entirely in vegetables with carrots, beets, turnips and radishes cut to resemble flowers. Another was in George Washington bicentennial colors, the glass cloth and decorations carrying out the idea in artistic manner.

Many organizations, including the Women's Clubs, American Legion, Rotary, Kiwanis and A. O. U. E., had exhibits.

France Doing Duty in Crisis, States Dr. Cestre at Athens

Sorbonne, Paris, Professor,
Makes Principal Address at Institute of Public Affairs.

ATHENS, Ga., May 10.—France is doing her international duty in spite of criticism, often founded on erroneous reports, Dr. Charles Cestre, of the Sorbonne, Paris, declared in his concluding address at the Institute of Public Affairs here tonight.

Dr. Cestre spoke on "France in the Present Economic Crisis." The institute closes Wednesday with addresses by Dr. James T. Shotwell. Dr. Cestre said that France is doing her "international duty in connection with the economic council of the League of Nations or by direct conference with Germany, England and Italy. She hopes that America will recognize her efforts and finally consent to work with her and the rest of Europe for the reconstruction of the trade situation in the world."

Plight of Budget.

"The most serious aspect of the situation," as far as France is concerned, "is the plight of the budget," Dr. Cestre maintained. "In 1926 heavy taxes were imposed upon the people by Poincare in order to rehabilitate the franc and as a result of this the budget was brought into crushing weight. There cannot be any question of increasing the present rate of taxes. The only possible policy will be economy and as money is the most difficult virtue for a democracy to practice, the task was postponed until after the May elections. Tuesday morning, the hope of redressment lies in the bettering of trade in Europe and in the whole world. France is now negotiating with the neighboring countries for trade agreements."

There are few real conservatives in French politics nowadays, Dr. Cestre said. Tuesday morning.

"French politics," Dr. Cestre said, "are puzzling to Anglo-Saxons because they are not run on the two-party system. There are as many as 14 groups in the French chamber of deputies. But they can practically be reduced to three, and even to two parties."

In discussing the influence on French politics of the temper of the people and of historical survivals, Dr. Cestre said the French are essentially intellectual and emotional, in contrast to the practical and businesslike spirit of the Anglo-Saxons. They care primarily for fine doctrinal problems, that stir the minds and move the hearts; only secondarily for measures of immediate utility. Besides much reserve around adherence or non-adherence to the church, which represents traditionally conservative opinions, obedience to authority, and predominance of an elite of birth or wealth.

Few Real Conservatives.

"The real conservatives are few nowadays. They are no longer reactionary royalists or bonapartists, as they used to be toward 1880; they are mild republicans, bent especially on maintaining the ascendancy of an oligarchic class. But knowing that the masses are strongly republican, they color their exclusive class-interests by various republican epithets. They form the right."

"The center consists of the moderates, with rather unstable opinions, that lean now on the right side, now on the left side. They are, in fact, the arbiters, in case of heated conflicts."

"The radicals form the left, standing for separation of the church from the state and for democratic measures, such as direct taxes as against indirect taxes, and for state monopolies. They are sometimes influenced by the socialists, who advocate revolution (without really meaning it), sometimes by the moderates of the center."

"Except in cases of severe struggles roused by big issues, the cabinets are union cabinets, with men from the left who uphold sweeping republican theories to satisfy the bulk of electors, and men from the center of the right, who see to balancing the budget, defending industrial and trade interests, and promoting national welfare. Ministries are unstable, but changes are seldom so radical as to prevent the continuity of constructive policy," Dr. Cestre said.

Rome Records First Fire Caused From Flat Tire

ROME, Ga., May 10.—(P)—The first fire on record here due to a flat tire has been reported by the fire department.

Guy Crowder was driving a produce truck when a tire went flat or no flat. Eventually the rubber in the tire became so hot that it burst into flames and the fire spread to the body of the truck.

The fire department extinguished the blaze.

Seeks Crisp's Seat

J. Nelson Catlett, secretary and treasurer of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, is the only candidate who has formally announced for congress from the third district. He seeks the seat now held by Representative Charles R. Crisp, of America, who has entered the race for United States senator for the unexpired term of the late Senator William J. Harris, Muscogee county, of which Columbus is the county seat, and as money is the new third district under the reapportionment act of the last legislature.

They form the right.

The center consists of the moderates, with rather unstable opinions, that lean now on the right side, now on the left side. They are, in fact, the arbiters, in case of heated conflicts.

The radicals form the left, standing for separation of the church from the state and for democratic measures, such as direct taxes as against indirect taxes, and for state monopolies. Only One Bid Offered as
Convention Ends; Garrett
Presented Chest of Gold.

SEA ISLAND BEACH, Ga., May 10.—(P)—The next convention of the Rotarians of Georgia probably will be held in Columbus.

The west Georgia city was the only one which put in a bid for next year's meeting at the closing session of the sixty-ninth district conference of Rotary International here today.

Decision as to the next meeting place will be made at a district assembly to be called for sometime June by the new district governor, Ed Flanders, of Macon. Mr. Flanders was chosen governor to succeed T. Harry Garrett, of Augusta.

One of the features of the closing session of the convention was the presentation to Mr. Garrett of a chest of gold. The presentation was made by the Brunswick Pirates Club in behalf of members of the Rotary Club from throughout the state. The chest contained $300, which had been contributed by Rotarians of Georgia.

The chest of gold was presented instead of the medal usually given to the retiring governor.

STUDENTS AT MERCER NAME NEW OFFICERS

MACON, Ga., May 10.—(P)—Timothy W. Calloway, Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday was elected president of the Mercer University student body for the next year.

William T. Bodenhamer, Decatur, 133 to 116. Mr. Bodenhamer, who succeeds Charles M. Cox, Camilla, is a junior in the school of law. He is not a member of a social fraternity.

Miss Lolale Fountain, Adrain, was named vice president of the student body over E. L. Lay, of Macon, 131 to 115. The office of secretary and treasurer remained unfilled after Richard Grimalds, Macon, and Joe Grant, Atlanta, "non-parison" nominees, failed to qualify.

First members of the new central student council that will have absolute control over all student body matters next year under a new constitution calling for self-government are Edwin E. Hunter, Newcastle, Ind., from the law school; Raymond Copinger, E. L. Lay, of Canton, 131 to 115. Christianity; Robert M. Smith, Akron, Ohio, from the school of commerce and Richard Grimalds and Joe Grant, Atlanta, from the liberal arts college.

Miss Lella Smith, Macon, was named editor-in-chief of The Courier, college year book, over John Minter, Columbus, who was named editor of the year book.

Tom Gregory, Eatonton; Paul Harverfield, Macon; J. M. Lacy, of Macon; Oglethorpe, and Searcy Garrison, Oglethorpe, make up the board of four on The Cluster, student publication.

Robert Carswell, Macon, and "Red" Bailey, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., were named student representatives on the administration's athletic board of control.

The university's first co-ed cheerleader, Miss Eunice Williamson, Macon, was elected to serve next year with Joe Binn, Columbus.

John Barnes, Macon, was chosen freshmen advisor to direct affairs of the incoming class next fall. He was named over Ben Overstreet, Savannah, and Joe Cooper, Milledgeville.

HITLERITE OFFERS FASCIST PROGRAM

Plan Calls for Year's Labor by Every German To Insure Independence.

BY HAROLD A. PETERS.
BERLIN, May 10.—(UP)—An economic program to make Germany self-sufficient and strongly anti-capitalistic was submitted in the Reichstag today by Gregor Strasser, in behalf of Adolf Hitler's fascist party. The fascist movement is "the people's protest against the capitalist mentality," Strasser declared amid the jeers of communist deputies, which led to an uproar in the Reichstag.

"What about the fascist conference with Rhenish industrialists? What about the coal and iron magnates subsidizing the fascists?" shouted the communists.

The fascist deputies drowned out the jeers with loud applause. The main plank in the fascist program was one-year labor by every German to produce the daily necessities which would make Germany independent of agricultural imports.

"Only by producing her own food will Germany be politically free," Strasser said.

Chancellor Heinrich Brüning listened attentively during the speech. Later, the Reichstag was thrown into an uproar when Minister of Defense Wilhelm Groener defended the action of President Paul von Hindenburg in his decree abolishing the powerful fascist "brown shirt army" of 400,000 men.

"Without the squads (of brown shirts), order would have been disturbed," General Groener declared.

The fascists arose and shouted their protests, causing the first disorderly incident in the present Reichstag session. The vice speaker ordered Strasser to leave, but the Hitlerite lieutenant refused and the session was suspended amid general turmoil on the floor.

Yeast, Iron, Copper Is Proving Sensation

The new vitamin, iron, and copper treatment, Thor's Vitamin Compound, is creating a sensation all over Atlanta by its astonishing benefits. Scores of people heretofore unable to find relief from impoverished blood, malnutrition, digestive disturbances, a weak, anaemic condition and similar complaints are enthusiastically praising the new treatment for quickly relieving them of these disorders. Mr. John R. Townes, popular resident of 220 Spring St., Decatur, and associated with Peavy's Market, 12 Edgewood Ave., Atlanta, tells how the new treatment overcame his troubles in the following words:

"I've always enjoyed fine health until a few months ago, when my stomach began going back on me. It looked like everything I ate would turn as sour as vinegar. I was usually in misery from gas bloating and would have terrible spells of dizzy headaches that nothing seemed to relieve. I took medicines every day for acid condition and constipation, but they would only help for a little while and the real trouble kept on getting worse.

"After seeing how Thor's Vitamin Compound restored Mr. F. E. Herder, our manager, I began the treatment myself and it put me on my feet so quick I'm glad to recommend it to anybody. I don't have a sign of acid any more, I relish my meals, and my digestion is like new. The dizzy headaches are gone and I never have to take a laxative. I feel strong and well, like my old-time self, and there's nothing too good for me to say of this new treatment."

Thor's Vitamin Compound of yeast, iron, and copper promotes an increase

Big Meeting Planned Here on Good-Will Day

Representatives from Atlanta universities, colleges and schools will assemble in a mammoth youth meeting at 10:30 o'clock next Wednesday morning in the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. at 37 Auburn avenue to observe International Good-Will Day. The Christian Council has arranged for a local observance of the day.

Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the Atlanta schools, will deliver the principal address and a music program will include songs by the Morehouse College quartet, and the entire proceedings will be open to the public.

SOULE IS RE-ELECTED FARM COLLEGE HEAD

Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Athens, Tuesday was re-elected to that position by the board of regents of the University of Georgia and its branches.

Dr. Soule was only elected for the 1932-1933 scholastic year. He was the only member of the personnel of any of the 26 institutions under control of the regents, who has been elected for another year since the sessions assumed charge January 1.

The board remained in executive session at the state capital throughout the day and on adjournment definitely set the annual meeting at Athens in the University of Georgia library, for June 3, starting at 9:30 a. m.

At the Athens meeting the board will elect the entire personnel of the institutions, including the other presidents, and adopt the budgets for the next year.

Girl, 17, Hungry and Out of Work, Near Death After Drinking Poison

Desperate because she had had nothing to eat for two days, Marie Housley, 17 years old, of 118-Short street, was in Grady hospital in a critical condition Tuesday night as the result of poison taken Tuesday afternoon at her home, according to members of her family. No food has been in the Housley home since Saturday, it was said.

The girl's father, C. W. Housley, has been out of work for two years, and the only member of the family earning money is a 15-year-old sister, Senah May Housley, a student at the Murphy High school, who sells newspapers on downtown streets after school hours. Another sister, Christine, 12, is a pupil at the Faith school.

The 17-year-old girl has been searching for work, but was unable to get a position. Monday and Tuesday the girl tramped the streets from place to place, always receiving the same answer: "Nothing today." Tuesday afternoon Marie asked a stranger for a few cents to buy something to eat. With it she bought a small bottle of poison. Then she returned home.

A short time later members of the family heard her groans of pain. An ambulance was called to take her to Grady hospital. Attaches said small hope was held for her recovery.

Chief of Police Sturdivant ordered that the Housley family be taken to relieve the family.

Bust of Poet Ernest Hartsock To Be Given Oglethorpe Thursday

One of the south's greatest poets will be honored Thursday when a bronze bust of the late Ernest Hartsock will be unveiled and formally presented to Oglethorpe University.

The bust will be the gift of Fritz P. Zimmer, head of the Oglethorpe art department, who made the plaster model and shipped it to Germany, where the bronze figure was molded.

Dr. Thorne Jacobs, president of the university, will present the bust, and accept the bust for the school, and Alta Webster, niece of the poet, will unveil the figure.

The program will be Dr. James Routh and Dr. W. F. Melton, of the English and literature departments, and Robert LeSeur Jones, editor of "Boat," poetry magazine once published and edited by Hartsock. The magazine is now the property of Oglethorpe and was given by Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hartsock, parents of the dead poet.

On the platform as guests of honor will be Mr. and Mrs. Hartsock and members of the family. Dr. Anderson Scruggs, noted poet, will represent the Atlanta Writers Club, of which he is president, and of which Hartsock was a member.

Hartsock was internationally known as one of the greatest of modern poets and was the 1929 winner of the national poetry award. He is the author of three volumes of verse and numerous poems which appeared in American, English and French magazines. At the time of death, more than a year ago, he was professor of poetics at Oglethorpe University.

One Killed, Two Hurt In Firemen's Crash

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 10.—(AP) A fire truck and an automobile driven by an assistant fire chief collided in responding to a downtown fire alarm today, killing a captain and injuring two firemen.

Captain J. E. Grizzard was killed, and Firemen E. L. Brockman and a driver named Newsome were carried to a hospital, where their condition was not immediately determined.

The fire truck struck Assistant Chief Alf Brown's car broadside, and turned over four times. Brown was only slightly injured.

CHEST SUBSCRIBERS REPORTED IN ARREARS

An appeal to "keep Atlanta's charity out of the red" Tuesday by the Atlanta Community Chest and the emergency relief committee to a statement showing 6,719 subscribers to 1932 relief to be delinquent in a total amount of $50,142.15.

The fire truck struck Assistant Chief Alf Brown's car broadside, and turned over four times. Brown was only slightly injured.

Relief workers have reported that in spite of the development of home gardens and other means of self-help for hundreds of families, there is a persistent and increasing number who are reaching the absolute end of resources as result of long unemployment, and that the obligations of the public are heavier.

JEWELERS' MEETING OPENS FOR 2 DAYS

The joint convention of the Georgia and Tennessee Retail Jewellers' Associations opened at the Ansley hotel on Tuesday morning, and will end its session on Wednesday evening with a dinner-dance on the Ansley roof.

The meeting was called to order by President Lawrence Holzman, of the Georgia association, and the delegates were welcomed by Fred Seely, president of the Atlanta Retail Jewellers' Association, and by Mr. Holzman, president of the Tennessee association.

Addresses were made by Fred Seely, president of the Atlanta Retail Jewellers' Association, and by Mr. Holzman, president of the Tennessee association.

Wednesday's session will be featured by addresses and reports of committees, including election of officers.

ATLANTA CIVITAN CLUB APPROVES DELEGATES

Delegates to the International Civitan Club convention in Baltimore from June 18 to 22 were appointed at the luncheon of the Atlanta Civitan Club Tuesday. The delegates are Herbert Porter, Bruce Moran and the incoming president, to be elected May 31.

Alternates are Edgar Williams, Jr., J. L. Keelin Jr. and E. O. Johnson. A nominating committee was appointed, consisting of Julian Boehm, Herbert Porter, H. Z. Horner, B. C. Broyles and Earl Quillian. This committee nominate a slate next week and the election will be held two weeks following the nominations.

WORK IN LATIN AMERICA SCARCE, BULLETIN SAYS

Cautioning those who would seek employment in Latin American countries through an individual or agency to consult with the better business bureau of the Chamber of Commerce or some established employment agency before signing any contract, the United States department of commerce issued a bulletin Tuesday asserting that the prospect for employment in Latin America is slight.

The bulletin, issued through the department's division of regional information, says that even in normal times employment in Latin America for Americans is "meager enough," but that in the present state of economic unrest it is "practically nil."

NOTED FRENCHMAN
WILL SPEAK TONIGHT

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 10.—(AP)—The Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific Railway Company was fined $100 and costs in federal court today for failing to unload a horse for food, water and rest on a trip from Asheville, N. C., to Cleveland Ohio. Counsel for the railroad pleaded guilty.

SALESMEN COMPETE FOR COTTON CLOTHES

Retail salesmen of the Georgia Power Company are keeping cool while selling cool electric refrigerators this week by wearing Georgia-made cotton suits as a preparation for National Cotton Week. In addition, the power company salesmen are competing for prizes of cotton suits in the sales campaign.

Each salesman scoring a total of $800 worth of electric refrigerator sales will be awarded a cotton suit as a prize. Salesmen achieving $1,000 in refrigerator sales will receive a cotton suit with two pairs of trousers.

GIANT TIRE DELAYED BY A LOW BRIDGE

Due to a delay en route here the giant replica of a Goodyear Airwheel tire, which was to have been exhibited Tuesday at the Dobbs Tire Company, 222 Spring street, will not be shown until Wednesday.

This Big Bertha of rubber tires, which weighs half a ton, was too large to go under a bridge on its way here. The road had to be dug out, which caused the delay in arrival.

COUNTY PAY CUT URGED BY LEAGUE

Saving of $708,000 Seen If City Wage Is Followed, Group Claims.

Fulton county could save $708,000 a year by reduction of salaries of employees, including the construction department, to the level of the average salaries paid employees of the city government, according to a statement issued Tuesday by the Taxpayers League.

When the league recently issued a statement insisting that city and county governments immediately be placed on a sounder financial basis, it was felt that in keeping with the principles, the league should give officials of the two governments full opportunity to take the necessary steps, the league said. "We purposely dealt in generalities," the statement pointed out.

ty and many citizens have urged the league to be specific in its recommendations, the league said, inviting attention to "figures based on information supplied to us by the city comptroller's office and by the clerk of the county commission." The figures show, the league said, that if county salaries, exclusive of school and construction departments, "were reduced so that the average salaries paid county employees will be the same as the average salaries paid by the city government, excluding the same departments, the reduction would amount to $645,000 a year."

CHAPTER III.

The girl with her fair hair and clear blue eyes was even lovelier than Martha had imagined. She looked inquiringly.

"The lady wants a glass of water," the young man explained.

The girl smiled and poured water from a thermos bottle into a paper cup. "We only have these silly cups," she said. "But I do wish you'd help eat some of this lunch. Jack and I have stuffed and stuffed, and look at all that's left. Try one of these pate sandwiches. They're divine."

Martha, with a regretful thought for her own hot luncheon waiting at home, took a pate sandwich.

"It's a ravishing country around here, isn't it?" the girl exclaimed enthusiastically.

"Yes, I've lived here for 20 years," Martha answered, "and every June seems more beautiful than the last. It's—it's an ideal place for young couples. Are you married?"

The girl flushed. "No!" she said shortly.

"It isn't my fault we're not," said the young man impulsively.

"Jack, don't be absurd," said the girl.

"I'm not absurd, and I, Mrs.—"

"Mrs. Cape," said Martha. "I'm the real estate agent around here and naturally I don't think you're absurd, Jack. Her smile and her years robbed her use of his first name of too great familiarity. 'I like to see people marry young. I like them to enjoy their best years, their youthful years, their youthful years together. And, of course,'—she laughed—'I like to find them a house to live in. That's my business.'"

"If I could persuade stubborn Eloise to marry me I'd like to settle in the country here," Jack said. "I'd give anything to get out of the city. Naturally, I'd still have to work there, but—he stretched wide his strong young arms—but living out here in the country would be glorious."

"And it's only an hour to town," Martha interjected quickly.

"Yes, I'd be back in time, afternoons, for a little tennis or golf. You'd like that, Eloise, wouldn't you?"

"You'd hardly believe it, Mrs. Cape," said Eloise proudly, "but I can give that young buckaroo a run for his money at both tennis and golf."

"The tennis courts at the country club are wonderful," said Martha, "and they tell me the golf course is very sporty."

"It's difficult to get into the country club," asked Jack.

"O, no! Not at all! That is, it wouldn't be for you."

"And the beach isn't far, is it, Mrs. Cape?"

"Not 10 minutes from here in your roadster," Mrs. Cape agreed quickly. "And in winter there's skating at Bear Pond just over the hill."

The girl threw back her head and laughed. "Don't go on! I can't stand it."

"Well, what I can't understand," said Martha naively, "is why Eloise won't marry you, Jack."

For by now, through some strange alchemy in the June day, the warming sunshine, the little river murmuring so close, they all seemed like old friends. It is difficult to be formal sitting on the grass munching sandwiches.

"There is really no reason," Jack answered. "Eloise has simply invented one."

"That's a very stupid remark, Jack," Eloise said coldly.

"Well, then, it's her career," Jack said, still a little defiant. "Eloise says she must have her career."

"But can't Eloise have both you and her career?" Martha asked.

"Women do, nowadays," said Martha.

"You've had both, haven't you, Mrs. Cape?" This, a note of acid in it, was Eloise's question.

"Well, I suppose you might say I've had both," Martha admitted. "And aren't you the happier for it?"

"O, I don't know," said Martha slowly. "You see, I didn't particularly want a career if you can call running a real estate business a career. But my husband was incapacitated for all work, and there were two small children, and I had to do what I did. As a matter of fact, I was one of those women who like to stay home and worry about the roses and put up preserves and, now that I'm 45 I feel a more intense desire than ever to sit by the fire and knit, but that, too, is impossible just yet."

"O, I'm sorry," said the girl, and laid her hand on Martha's. "I'm—I'm always too 'darn inquisitive.'"

"It seems to me we've all been too darn inquisitive today," Martha said, "and I've had such a good time at it, that I'm going right on being inquisitive."

They sat in silence for a few minutes, the boy's eyes fixed with intent anxiety on Eloise's dreaming abstraction. Then Martha rose. "If you do decide to get married," she said lightly, "let me know. I have just the box for you."

"Let's see it now," said Jack enthusiastically. "It would be fun, anyway, wouldn't it, Eloise?"

Eloise pouted. "Jack, darling, you grasp at any straw," she said, but abruptly with a single graceful movement she jumped to her feet. "All right. Let's pack up first. Mrs. Cape, do finish this chicken salad!"

While Eloise and Jack cleared up and packed baskets, hug and thermos bottle into the back of the roadster, Martha finished the salad. It was too late for her own luncheon, anyway. She didn't care. She was having a time of her life. Vicariously, she was thrilling once more to love's young dreams.

When, finally, the young couple were in their own car Martha hopped into hers. "Follow me, children," she called gayly, and led the way to the little white house.

Hand in hand, indeed like two children, Eloise and Jack stood before the little house, its white paint and green shutters smiling in the sun. The river purled and a soft breeze brought with it the scent of grass and wet earth and the delicate fragrance of the roses.

"O, it can't be real!" Eloise cried at last on a long breath.

Martha laid the spell of the little house work its magic upon them. Then she said brusquely, "But you haven't seen the inside, and she unlocked the front door, threw it open and ushered them in. She herself waited outside.

They were gone some time. When they came out, Martha saw that Jack looked stern as if some great and sudden delight had sobered him. She saw, too, that Eloise had been crying. Her eyes were bright with tears.

Jack gulped and then said, "But—but I do suppose we must consider practical things, Mrs. Cape. What's the rent?"

Martha hesitated only a second. "A thousand dollars," she said.

"I think we can just about manage that," said Jack. "That's for the year, of course."

As for Martha's pause was imperceptible before she echoed his. "Of course."

Jack turned to Eloise. "Well, darling," he questioned.

Eloise stood quietly for a moment. Then she put her hands on Jack's shoulders, kissed him and then, in a moment, kissed him. "All right," she said.

Martha of a sudden was all activity. "I'll leave you here," she said, "and I want to get acquainted with the little house. Come to my office on the post road when you're ready to sign the lease. Have you any idea when—when you'll be married?"

Eloise lifted her head. "Right away," she said, while Jack turned to her a face transformed with happiness. And on that note Martha left them.

As she drove away in her dusty, industrial coupe, she said aloud to herself, "Martha, you fool! You poor old sentimental fool!"

But her heart sang within her. It was many years since she had been so happy.

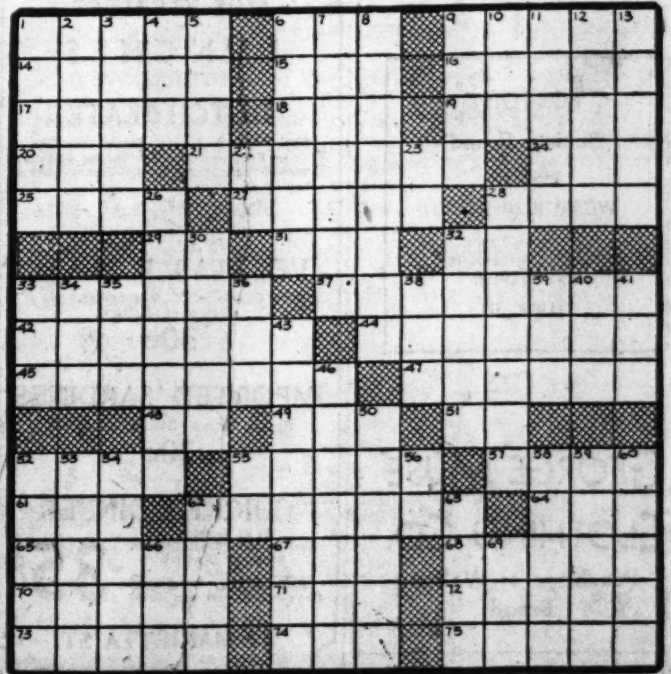

THE END.

Horse Show Chairmen Named at Meeting Of Young Matrons' Circle Held at Pinebloom

The accompanying photograph presents the group of prominent Atlantans acting as chairmen for the horse show to be given at Piedmont park May 20 and 21 by the Atlanta Horse Show Association and sponsored by the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls school of which these chairmen are prominent members. The chairmen were named at a meeting of the circle held yesterday afternoon at Pinebloom, home of Mrs. Preston Arkwright. Reading from left to right on the lower row are Mesdames Robert Edmondson Jr., Homer Sanford, John O. Donaldson, Julian Thomas, Harry Cannon, Bernard Neal, W. E. Harrington. Left to right, upper row, are Mesdames Ben F. Parker, Willard Patterson, Turner Jones, John O. Chiles, F. M. Boston Jr., Martin Kilpatrick, Carylie Holleman, Deloney Sledge. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Mobilized for concerted action, the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah Falls school at its annual spring meeting held yesterday afternoon at Pinebloom as guest of the circle's founder and honorary president, Mrs. Preston Arkwright, heartily endorsed plans for sponsorship of the horse show to be held in Piedmont park May 20 and 21 and pledged its full support to the undertaking as a part of the constructive program in behalf of the mountain school in whose interest the circle functions. With Mrs. F. Parker, president, in the chair, the business session opened with the president's resume of the work accomplished by the circle since its organization. Mrs. Parker called for reports from the standing committees, introducing each in turn. Mrs. Charles T. Winship Jr., chairman of scholarships, concluded her report with a moving appeal for more scholarships, while or in part, saying that there has never been a year in the history of the school when scholarships were so urgently needed. Much interest centered in the report of the equipment committee, Mrs. H. W. Beers, chairman, not only because it has been active and significant in securing gifts for the school, but because of its recent pilgrimage to Tallulah Falls, where the members saw the institution in full operation. Reports showing consistent fine effort and accomplishment were given by the following chairmen: Mrs. Humphrey Wagar, membership; Mrs. Clarence Haverly, finance; Mrs. Louis J. Elmer, secretary; Mrs. W. W. Anderson, dental clinic; Mrs. Montague Boyd, books; Mrs.

Herbert Reynolds, crafts; Mrs. W. D. Ellis III, clothes; Mrs. Morris Brandon Jr., garden; Mrs. John O. Chiles, entertainment; Mrs. John Fitts, co-operation; Mrs. Homer S. Sanford, communications; Mrs. E. A. Thornwell, nominations. Mrs. W. Eugene Harrington reported her activities as chairman of the horse show and means committee. Outlined plans for the young matrons' sponsorship for the forthcoming horse show and announced the chairmen charged to lead the special committees in charge of horse show co-operation. With Mrs. Harrington as general chairman for the undertaking, which the circle is sponsoring for the year, the following committee chairmen will co-operate: Mrs. Willard C. Patterson, newspaper publicity; Mrs. Turner Jones, radio publicity; Mrs. John O. Chiles, chairman of the young matrons at horse show headquarters; Mrs. John O. Donaldson, sandwiches; Mrs. Frank Edmondson, ticket delivery; Mrs. Bernard Neal, general admission tickets; Mrs. Harry Cannon, confections; Mrs. Robert Edmondson, ticket delivery; Mrs. Homer Sanford, telephone; Mrs. John O. Chiles, ushers; Mrs. Deloney Sledge, drinks; and Mrs. Martin Kilpatrick, dances. Mesdames Price Gilbert, Howard H. McCall, H. M. Atkinson, Samuel M. Inman, Elizabeth T. Winship and Bolling Jones, all trustees of Tallulah Falls school, following the business session Mrs. Arkwright and her daughter, Mrs. Glenville Giddings, entertained at an informal reception after which the guests were shown through the gardens of Pinebloom.

Among members of the advisory board present to participate in the meeting were Mesdames Price Gilbert, Howard H. McCall, H. M. Atkinson, Samuel M. Inman, Elizabeth T. Winship and Bolling Jones, all trustees of Tallulah Falls school. Following the business session Mrs. Arkwright and her daughter, Mrs. Glenville Giddings, entertained at an informal reception after which the guests were shown through the gardens of Pinebloom.

Sarah Wagstaff Rogers' Pupils To Give Benefit Dance Recital

The pupils of Sarah Wagstaff Rogers will give their annual spring dance recital Thursday afternoon, May 19, at 8 o'clock at the Shrine mosque, which is the second dance given by this group for the benefit of the Scottish Rite hospital for children. The proceeds of the recital will be given to the brace fund and rehearsals are being held daily by those who are blessed with strong bodies and limbs. With that thought in mind the participating children are enthusiastically selling tickets under the guidance of Mrs. Frank Sprattlin, Mrs. Calvin Prescott and to stimulate their competitive interest, there is a prize from J. P. Allen's, best performer for the little girl who individually sells the most tickets; for the most enterprising boy, a polo shirt from Mues's, or a box of Norris candy. They are competing in class groups also for the same laudable purpose of increasing the box receipts, and individual boxes of candy from Mues's are being sold by each member of the winning class.

Girl Scout Council Announces Opening of Civitania on June 15

Atlanta Girl Scout Council announces the opening of the eighth season of the Atlanta Girl Scout Camp Civitania on June 15. The camp is located in a beautiful woodland spot one mile from the Bankhead highway and ten miles from Atlanta, and the site was given in 1924 by Mrs. Frank Holland and Mrs. Malcolm Fleming as an ideal location for a Girl Scout camp. With the assistance of Frank Feely, committee composed of Mrs. Holland, Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. S. Albert Thornton Sr. and Miss Corrine Chibson presented the site to the Girl Scouts. The land was bought by the club and presented to the Girl Scouts, who named it Civitania. The Civitania built a hut which was first used for the first year and since they became interested several other huts were built. The Kiwanians, the Junior League, John H. Miller, C. B. Logan, J. J. Goodrum Jr., C. B. Cleveland and one member of the council are each responsible for a hut which accommodates ten campers each year. Troop No. 1, under the leadership of Miss Adelaide Nelson, built a small hut to be used for nature classes.

The lodge was built by Mrs. Albert Thornton and the dining hall by the Civitan Club. This year a rustic theater has been completed to be used for camp fire programs, entertainments and plays. Each year for eight years the camp has grown until it is now an ideal playground for Girl Scouts. The Civitan Club, McDougal Construction Company and the members of the council built a pool of concrete with a shallow place in one end for the beginners. The pool is large enough for the girls to use a small row boat which was given by Charles Glenn last summer. Landscaping of the camp was planned and carried out by Mrs. Malcolm Fleming, the first chairman of the camp.

The capacity of the camp has increased from 35 girls per week the first year to 80 at the present time. The program has developed with the growth in numbers and will include woodcraft, nature study, handicraft, swimming, tennis, archery, dramatics and a pioneering unit.
